

Happy Frigid January 2022!

It's time for another Winter Update to the goings on in the East Valley! We have been busy not only decorating with snowmen that won't melt! But also working on the architectural plans for renovation of the Hall.

So this is our 5th quarterly newsletter. And we are excited to give you an update on all our events. We have gotten architectural drawings from the Breadloaf Corporation out of Middlebury, VT. and we are considering what changes might need to be made. So we have not quite yet settled on a total price for the renovation, but we are getting much closer. Thank you to Mark Kelley and John Pimentel for their so helpful input.

Since snow has been iffy these last few years we thought to make snowmen that can't melt! See quite a few in the valley. How many can you spot?

We want to make ice lanterns to mark a few places in the valley and we've been waiting for some serious cold...and maybe we are there now! We will see! Keep on the lookout. And add your own to light the way! And if we have enough snow, we have talked about many of us making snow sculptures along Rt. 14...ah, but alas we wait for snow.

As we approach electing new officers to the EVCG roster, we want to extend a warm welcome to any community members who might have an interest in growing the East Valley as a more vibrant area with more activities and maybe even some larger initiatives. We have had ideas like sidewalks, or a skating rink or a bike path down Rt. 14! But we want some more involvement from you! Please contact us if you might want to join in on the activities! We could sure use new skills and input added to our group.

BRINGING IT BACK everyone. Thank you all for all you contribute! We are all stronger together!

Til next time...The EVCG
